JOB WORK

Of all kinds neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the office of the DAILY BULLETIN.

The Bank of England.

The Bank of England is governed by a Board of Directors, a Governor and a Deputy Governor. The Board of Directors is, in fact, self-electing. The offices of Governor and Deputy Governor are given in rotation; the Deputy Governor always succeeds the Governor, and usually the oldest Director who has not been in office becomes Deputy Governor. It is usually about twenty years from the time of a man's first election that he arrives, as it is called, at the chair; accordingly Bank Directors, when first chosen by the board, are always young men. Some of the Directors retire annually, but by courtesy it is always the young ones; those who have passed the chair—that is, who have served the office of Governor-always remain; the young part of the board is the fluctuating part, and the old part is the permanent part. The elder members of the board—that is, those who have passed the chair-form a standing committee of indefinite powers—Lo precise description has ever been given of them; and this committee are called the Committee of Treasury. In the English sense, no "banker" has a chance of being a Bank Director. The mass of the Bank Directors are merchants of experience, employing a considerable capital in trades in which they have been brought up, and with which they are well acquainted. Many of them have information as to the present course of trade, and as to the character and wealth of merchants, which is most valuable, or, rather, is all but invaluable, to the bank. The Governor and Deputy Governor, who form the executive, change every two years. There are twenty-four Directors, a Governor and a Deputy Governor, making a court of twenty-six persons, and the court meets only once week and then but for a short time. The management of the entire public debt of Great Britain is in the hands of the bank, for which service it receives a compensation, which has from time to time varied in amount according to circumstances. Says Adam Smith: "She (the bank) acts not only as an ordinary bank, but as a great engine of state. She receives and pays the greater part of the annuities which are due to the creditors of the public; she circulates exchequer bills; she advances to the Government the annual amount of the land and malt taxes, which are frequently not paid till some years thereafter."

Cork.

Cork is the outer bark of a tree called ccrk oak, quercus suber, and once in every eight years the crop of cork is gathered from those trees. The cork is the outer bark, which, after the tree is four or five years old, makes a rapid growth and becomes very thick. While this outer bark is increasing a new bark forms on the inner side, and thus the Creator has provided a covering for the tree by the time the old bark shall become cracked and dry, and useless for further protection. It is just before the outer bark has reached this useless condition' and while there is yet life and pliability left in it, that the workmen go forth and carefully separate it from the trees. This operation is performed during the summer months by cutting furrows in the bark, lengthwise, and making cuts crosswise, about forty inches apart; the bark is then beaten, in order to loosen it from the tissues beneath, after which it is pried off in square pieces. The bark is finally carted to the factory, where men and boys cut and turn it into the different shapes used for cork, bungs and such like. If the barking or peeling is carefully done, without hurting the new bark beneath, it does no injury to the tree, but is ben-eficial in removing what would eventually become an incumbrance.

The Habit of Saving.

Children who have a little money ought to practice saving something. Many boys and girls of to-day hardly know a higher use for any money that comes into their hands than spending it for some foolish thing as quickly as possible. To such a lesson in self-denial and economy is very important. As go the boy's pennies and dimes, so, very likely, will go the man's dollars and hun-dreds by and by. Without having the spirit of a miser, the person accustomed to save has more pleasure in laying up than a spendthrift ever knows.

The way to keep money is to earn it fairly and honestly. Money so obtained is pretty certain to abide with its possessor. But money that is inherited, or that in any way comes without a fair and just equivalent, is almost certain to go as it came. The young man who begins by saving a few dollars a month and thriftily increases his store-every coin being a representative of good, solid work, honestly and manfully done stands a better chance to spend the last half of his life in affluence and comfort. than he who, in his haste to become rich, obtains money by dashing speculations, or the devious means which abound in the foggy region lying between fair dealing and actual fraud. Among the wisest and most thrifty men of wealth, the current proverb is, money goes as it comes. Let the young make a note of this, and see that their money comes fairly, that it may long abide with them.—Exchange.

Making Flowers of Soap-Bubbles.

A pretty experiments has been described by the well-known Belgian physicirt, M. Plateau. He bends fine iron wire, so as to present the contour of a flower of six petals. The central ring to which the petals are attached is supported on a forking stem, which is stuck in a piece of wood. After oxidizing the wire slightly with weak nitric acid the flower is dipped in glyceric liquid so as to receive films in the petals and the central part. It is then turned up, placed on a table near a window and covered with a bell jar.

For a little at first it appears colorless, but soon a striking play of colors commences. In the experiment, M. Plateau describes, the flower continued showing modifications of color for ten hours, when dusk stopped observation. Next morning several petals had burst. The liquid used was of very mediocre quality. M. Plateau recommends preparation of the liquid thus: Dissolve a fresh piece of Marseilles soap, cut up into small pieces, in forty parts by weight of hot distilled water. Filter after cooling and mix thoroughly three volumes of the solution with two of Price's glycerine. The solution should be left at rest till all the air bubbles are gone. - London Times.

CREEPING through a perforated stone for certain diseases was a Druidic rite.

France four years ago engraved upon her statute-book this law: "A man three times intoxicated shall forfeit his right to vote. He shall not hold an office under Government; he shall be disqualified from serving in the army."

BE not diverted from your duty by any idle reflections the silly world may make upon you, for their censurers are not in your power, and consequently should not be any part of your concern.

THERE is no becessity in nature for the alarming disasters so prevalent and the sudden deaths so common. A healthily constituted man or woman ought to wear bright until three score and ten.

Who Pay the Taxes.

The Pittsburg Post says: These millions of surplus in the treasury are the results of excessive taxation, and as all taxes are paid by the consumers, they represent a drain on the earnings of the farmer, the lawyer, is dead. mechanic and the laborer. The great capitalist and corporations do not contribute in proportion to their surplus wealth but merely on what they consume. Thus, Vanderbilt owns fifty millons of United States four per cents, on which he has a yearly income of about two million dollars or about four hundred thousand dollars a week, and yet he contributes no more to the national treasury than a man whose yearly wages do not amount to what Vanderbilt's non-taxable government bonds earn for him every six hours. Vanderbilt ruerely pays on what he eats and wears, and the draymen or the day laborer does the same.

An income tax would have remedied this and compelled the millionaire to pay in proportion to this accumulated wealth that the government protects. If our revenues, as in England, were largely raised by taxes on incomes, there would be no inviting and corrupting surplus in the treasury. The influential and wealthy few would soon see to that; but as our taxes are levied on the millions of consumers in the country, and mainly by indirect methods, there is no loud cry for reduced taxaion or stringent economy in expenditure. The millionaries are satisfied with existing conditions, and the masses are either indifferent or ill informed.

The point we desire to make is that this money in the federal treasury, for which the republican jobbers and speculators are organizing their raids under all sorts of plau. sible and patriotic pretexts-"the old flag and an appropriation" as a rule-is drawn from the earnings of the American people. Millionaries as such contribute nothing to it. It come from the great middle class, the farmers, the mechanics and the laborers. These lobby schemes are inventions to rob them and should be resisted. If there is too much money in the treasury, cut the tax down to the requirements of an economical administration. Do not make a surplus, drained from the pockets of the people, the excuse or justification ci costly and profligate schemes, foreign to the legitimate purposes of the federal government.

Letter from Catlettsburg.

CATLETTSBURG, Kv., Jan. 15, 1882. Editor Bulletin: Possibly our friends in Maysville, would like to hear from us.

We arrived in this city about three o'clock last Wednesday afternoon, on the steamer Telegraph and with the Lexingington Guards in the lead, the McCreary Guards second, and the Mason County Guards in the rear with the prisoners in charge, marched directly to the Court house. The prisoners were at once lodged in the jail which is in the rear of the Court House and special detail placed on guard. Our "quarters" were then assigned us on the second floor above the county offices. The Legington Guards are quartered opposite us across the hall and the McCreary Guards on the second floor of the Court House above the general assembly room. At 6:30 the command "fall in" was given and leaving one company on guard we were marched to the Alger House for supper. After all had finished eating we were marched back to our quarters and Sargeant Sallee read our orders. These orders require us to report every night at half-past eight al lights must be out at nine o'clock. The "Reville" is sounded at 5:30 o'clock and we were marched to breakfast at 6:30 Thursday, it was thought that there were too many of us at the Argle House and our captains drew cuts for three hotels. The Lexington Guards drew the Argle House, the Mc-Creary Guards the Price House and the Mason County Guards the Crow House. On Thursday evening the guards were invited to attend a social given by the Presbyterian church at the residence of Mrs. R. B. Patton. Quite a number attended and were loud in their praises for the cordial manner in which they were treated and all join in thanking Mr. and Mrs. Patton for their kindness which under the circumstances they could well appreciate. The dress parade, which occurs every afternoon at four o'clock in front of the Court House attracts a great many people, and the people of Mason county have every cause in the world to be proud of the Guards, for I assure you they receive their full share of the compliments. Major Allen is liked by all the guards, and the officers also are very popular, and take the three companies generally, they are like a great big family of boys, and as jolly and congenial set of military men as could possibly be gotten together.

The grand jury yesterday returned three indictments against Neil and Craft jointly and three against Ellis, all for murder, (one indictment for each of the victims killed.) Their trials are set for next week. There is an undercurrent of excitement HOUSE. AND SIGN PAINTER which is liable to break out at any time, but up to the present no demonstrations have been made and we have been treated with the greatest cordiality.

I will send word concerning us every day or se, and as captain Respess and Lieutenant Cochran take good care of us FIRST NATIONAL BANK A train on the Hudson River Railroad none of our friends need have any fear as Friday, having the New York Assembly to our welfare. Hoping to see you all on board, was telescoped by another train again soon, I remain yours in behalf of the Mason County Guards.

USEFUL HINTS.

A PIECE of zinc placed on the live coals in a hot stove will effectually clean out a stove-pipe, the vapors produced carrying off soot by chemical decompoeition.

An Eastern physician states that in families that roast their own coffee diphtheria cannot get a foothold, as the pungent aroma of the roasting coffee ef-fectually destroys the germs of the dis-

VIOLET INE STAINS. -To remove, without trouble, the stains of violet ink caused by the upsetting of a bottle of that fluid upon any garment, lay it immediately in clear, cold water and rub out the ink as far as it will come out, then lay is out on the grass, when it will disappear. Lay calico goods out with the wrong side to the sun.

To KEEP machinery from rusting: Take one-half cunce of camphor; dissolve in one pound of melted lard; take off the soum and mix in as much fine black lead as will give it an iron color. Clean the machinery and smear with the mixture. After twenty-four hours rub clean with a soft linen cloth. It will keep clean for months under ordinary circumstances.

Good Washing Fluid.—Take one pound of washing soda, one-quarter of a pound of unslaked lime and one gallon of water Boil up and when cold pour off clear. Use one teacupful to a boiler of clothes and is will take out almost white, even though is has scarcely been rubbed at all it is very simple, and when washing is done in the house a wonderful labor-savez. It will not cause the slightest injury to the most delicate fabrica. Not half the injury that the washboard is to even the stouter goods.

To Stor Noss-BLEED. — The Scientific American gives the following novel plan: The best remedy for bleeding at the nose as given by Dr. Glesson in one of his lectures, is in the vigorous motion of the laws as if in the act of chewing. In the case of a child a wad of paper should be placed in its mouth, and the child should be instructed to chew it hard. It is the motion of the jaws that stops the for of blood. The remedy as so very simple that many will feel inclined to laugh at it, but it never has been known to fail in a single instance, even in very severe cases.

MOTHERS and nurses cannot be too careful about the soap they use on the little once. Few but physicians know how many of the se called skin diseases among children are caused by the use of adulterated, poisonous soap. An analysis of several cakes of the pretty and perfumed toilet soaps that are sold on the streets showed the presence of ground glass, soluble glass, silex, pipeclay, rotter stone, borax, plaster of paris, tin orystal, magnesia, pumice stone, out men! and other substances, which are edied to give the soap weight, toughness or dearness. The common colorings are vermillion, Venetian red and carmine, ultramarine green, pot pigment grees copperas, Spanish brown, ultramarine blues, yellow and scarlet anilines and burnt umber. Many of the perfuming ingredients, though harmless in themselves, become chemically poisonous by admixture. Adding the dangers from all these to the rancid, diseased, putrid qualities of grease used, and mothers may well be appalled at the permanent evils their neat-looking, delicately-scented blocks of toilet soap contain, ready to be released whenever moistened and applied to baby's body.

A London journalist says that he had occasion to have the same prescription | Tickets, $8; Halves, $4; Quarters, $2. put up at the druggists' stores in various cities in Europe at the following charges: Bucharest, 12.50 francs; Athens, 5 francs; Munich, 4.15 francs; Stuttgart, 4.15 francs; Paris, 12.50 francs, and London, 8 francs.

An Iowa dog has cost its owner $950 in damages for bites, and the man declares that impedunious neighbors hang around on purpose to be bitten, knowing that he settled the claims promptly. It is hard to decide whether to class this a fact or a biting sarcasm.

THE SUN.

NEW YORK 1882.

The Sun for 1882, will make its fifteenth annual revolution under the present management, as always, for all, big and little, mean and gracious, contented and unhappy, Republican and Democratic deprayed and virtuous, intelligent and obtuse. The Sun's light is for mankind and womankind of every sort, but its genial warmth is for the good, while it pours hot discomfort on the blistering backs of the persistently wicked.

the persistently wicked.

The Sun of 1888 was a newspaper of a new kind. It discarded many of the forms, and a multitude of the superfluous words and phrases of ancient journalism. It undertook to report in a fresh, succinct, unconventional way all the news of the world, omitting no event of human interest, and commenting upon affairs with the fearlessness of absolute independence. The success of this experiment was the success of the Sun.

It effected a permanent change in the style of American newspapers. Every important journal established in this country in the dozen years past has been modelled after the Sun. Every important journal already exising has been modified and bettered by the force of the Sun's example.

The Sun of 1882, will be the same outspoken, truth-telling, and interesting newspaper.

By a liberal use of the means which an abundant prosperity affords, we shall make it better than ever before. We shall print all the news, putting it into accustomed express them in language that can be under tood. We say what we think about men and eve is. That habit is the only secret the Sun's political course.

The Weekly Sun gathers into eight pages the best matter of the seven daily issues. An Agricultural Department of the unequalled merit, full market reports, and a liberal proportion of literary, scientific and domestic intelligence complete the Weekly Sun, and make it the best newspaper for the farmer's household that was ever printed. that was ever printed.

Who does not know and read and like the Sunday Sun, each number of which is a Gol-conda of interesting literature, with the poetry of the day, prose every line worth leading, news, humor-matter enough to fill a goodsized book, and it finitely more varied and en-tertaining than any book, big or little?

If our idea of what a newspaper should be pleases you, send for the Sun.

Our terms are as as follows. our terms are as as follows.
